History of the Sensory Garden:

The Sensory Garden first premiered in 2013. It was the inspiration of Pamela Baker Trostle, a member of the Ann Arbor Commission on Disability Issues whose passion was to make life enjoyable and accessible for people with disabilities. Her vision was to create a garden of plants with textures, bright colors, and wonderful smells. The Sensory Garden! While it was designed for people with disabilities in mind, it is intended to be enjoyed by everyone. Sadly Pam passed away unexpectedly in 2011. The Commission fulfilled her vision and made it bloom.
